MULTILINGUAL CIVIC ORIENTATION

A GOOD START TO INTEGRATION

The first months in Finland matter a great deal. This is when newcomers form their picture of how society works and where to turn for help. Multilingual civic orientation gives them that knowledge in a language they understand. For municipalities and employment areas, a good start pays off later: clients manage their own affairs more independently and are better prepared for integration training, study or work.

WHY ARFFMAN?

Your statutory duty, covered

The training follows the Act on the Promotion of Integration and the related Government Decree. The content and 70-hour structure are ready to go.

A place for every participant

Delivered in person or online. Our individual placement service means people can take part even when there are only a few participants in your area.

A wide multilingual trainer network

Our trainers speak the participants' languages, and many of them have personal experience of moving to Finland.

Easy to work with

We listen to what your area needs and work with you to find the right way to organise the orientation.

Course topics

- values, laws, rights and responsibilities
- fundamental and human rights, and equality
- public authorities and using services
- working life, entrepreneurship and job seeking
- the education system and studying
- housing, personal finances and everyday life
- health services, family and wellbeing
- civil society and participation

Real human connection

For us, civic orientation is about dialogue and genuine human contact. We take the needs of each participant and group into account so that what they learn becomes part of everyday life.

We already deliver the training in partnership with several employment areas across Finland.

Let's make it work together

Together, we'll plan the right approach for your area.
