

What?

Together with your coach, you will go through competence-based discussions, where you will identify and map your skills and strengths. You will work together on the best ways to market your skills.

As part of the discussions, you practice presenting yourself and creating a good first impression in preparation for job interviews. You will get job interviews in various HR companies in English. Based on the interviews, you will receive verbal and written feedback so that you can identify where you were successful and where you can improve.

Therefore, you have a good chance of impressing the recruiter and getting a job during the interview!
